Editor's Report

Once again I wish to thank all those of you who have sent in your news and also photographs. Without them there would be no magazine. Sadly as you will see from the appropriate column that we have lost several valuable members, some of whom contributed regularly to our pages in the past. However, please keep your news coming in the future and also remember to give us your dates at school since the old book started many years ago with information in it, is no longer legible, especially as Joan has cataract problems at the moment which has made her job increasingly difficult.

Keep up the good work all of you.

Terry Rushton (Editor)

Secretary's Report

Dare I say 'What a year this last one has been!' I believe for the very first time in the Association's history, it is the first time that a pre-booked dinner has had to be cancelled through lack of support! Those who asked me to organise another meal did book their tickets. However, I did panic slightly just before the end of last year when I had only sold one ticket and then in January a couple of tables ordered their tickets but only two weeks before the dinner I had only sold 18 tickets and hence had to cancel. David Cokeham (former Head 1988-2004) did think it might have been the date which put folk off and Peter Cornall (former Head 1967-1972) wrote to me and said he would do his utmost to attend should we go ahead with another function. In fact I think all of our top table guests were disappointed at the cancellation. The magazine has been ready for printing but we seem to have had difficulty with our ageing officials in getting one or two normal bits and pieces from them for inclusion.

That is my report for the past twelve months, and I send all good wishes to each and every one of our members.

Joan Rushton (Secretary/President)

West Bridgfordians' Cricket Report Season 2015

Once again West Bridgfordians Cricket ran four Saturday sides and two on Sundays.

The First XI under the captaincy of John Grimes had a good season despite several injuries.

Three players stood out, Ally Petit 778 runs including one hundred and six fifties. He also took 35 wickets finishing top of Division B batting and bowling.

Alex Sheriston 573 runs and 27 wickets

Kalvern Kandola 29 wickets

The second team struggled due to the call of players into the first team.

The third team were relegated following a tough season. However there are many positives for the future as plenty of youngsters were given extended runs and gained valuable experience.

The fourth team again ran a very young side which competed well finishing mid table.

Both Sunday teams had good and enjoyable seasons and again youngsters were given the chance to step up to a higher level.

In 2015 we had 250 junior members registered at the club, which we believe is still the largest junior section in a Nottinghamshire club. Included in that figure are 48 girls, again the largest girls section in the county.

With so many junior members at WBCC the challenge is always balancing quality against quantity. Our volunteers try to do this to the best of their abilities with the resources available to them.

Our coaches, assistant coaches, parent helpers and young leaders provided 10 training sessions on Friday nights for children within the West Bridgford Community. One of our coaches also provided sessions at Abbey Road primary school. One of the off field highlights was the club being chosen to host BBC 5 live for their pre Test Match live broadcast of 5 Live Sport. A packed clubhouse were well entertained by Graeme Swann, Alison Mitchell, Jeff Thompson, Allan Lamb and Ian Healy.

WBCC Old School Caps

I am trying to see if anyone is interested in purchasing an old school style WBCC cricket cap like the one in the photo. They are made by top quality supplier and Gentlemen and players. The more interest we get the cheaper the price becomes. If you are interested please contact Craig James craigjames@westbridgfordianscc.co.uk and you will be added to the order list – cost for an order of 12 would be approx. £21 each. Thanks CJ

West Bridgford Monarchs Hockey Club: 2015/16

It hardly seems a year ago that I was writing the annual report, but it must be as I seem to be knuckling down once more. This past season was less traumatic on and off the pitch than last and, in the case ladies teams, far more successful too.

Socially, we have carried on with our normal events, beer festivals, etc, while Nick Hemm (1968 - 1976), I think and current school maths teacher) followed in Richard Cooper's (Coops) footsteps as our quizmaster. He wisely changed the format and has been asked to carry on next year, so must have been successful! I am writing this piece while trying to recover from a hectic End of Season weekend, when we had 10 mens and 6 ladies teams playing hockey and, if they were over 18, trying to drink the bar dry - they failed, as there were a few pints left at the end - and play some decent hockey.

The annual Mike Price Challenge match has been adjusted slightly to also commemorate Coops. Tradition was also not followed with the result, as Doug Stuart's XI failed to score and the game was a 0-0 draw. This was followed by a further short game to celebrate the playing career of a stalwart club servant. This year, it was Sophie Womack, née Sail, who has played for over 30 years, and done visually every job in the ladies club, all with good grace and humour. The following day was our junior event, where about 100 juniors played hockey and then made an effort on the club pizza eating record, again they didn't quite make it as only 50 or so disappeared. On the same day our boys and girls U12s were representing the club at the Midlands tournament - both played well but didn't manage to get on the rostrum.

Through the season, our ladies did really well, playing good attacking hockey through the teams and scoring lots of goals as a result. Top goal scorer, Jo Kehoe, scored more goals than some of the teams had managed in total the previous season! Our 1sts also got to the semi final of the National Vase competition, losing to a very strong Amersham and Chalfont side. In the leagues the 1sts, 3rds and 4ths achieved promotion, subject to the whims of the various league management committees, while the newly established 5th team finished a creditable mid table. This was achieved with 5 U18s playing regularly for the 1sts and well over 20 juniors spread across the 5 teams.

On the mens' side, we were not so successful and started the season looking as though we might have problems fulfilling all our fixtures. However, our chairman, Geoff Bail (ex staff, can't remember his dates!) and the team captains worked hard together and we ended up missing only one fixture. In addition, although most of our teams were not pressing for promotion, they managed to survive in their respective divisions. In fact the 8ths, our main junior development team did go one better being promoted as runners up in their league, while the 5ths managed to just avoid being promoted, finishing one off the promotion spot. The 1sts ended up 5th in the Midlands Premier, unusually they were in splendid isolation in 5th place, they could have won all or lost all of their final 3 games and still finished 5th. In fact they won 2 and lost 1.

As ever, we are always delighted when we are contacted by old friends – you can keep in touch through the website, www.wbhockey.co.uk, by emailing me at bob@wbhockey.co.uk, or by calling in at the clubhouse any Saturday afternoon/evening through the autumn and winter.

Bob Douglas, (1965-72)

Rugby Club Report – We did ask for one but seemingly it hasn't materialised.

Notes & News

Peter Machin (1946-51) wrote in just as the last issue was being printed to tell us of a change of address and informing us that with the opportunity of being 'homeless' he and his wife took the opportunity of enjoying a 5 month round the world cruise stopping over in Australia for a month to see his daughter and some of the country as well as many interesting places along the way. They are now back down to earth. Looking for somewhere to settle in either Spain or Portugal. Having lived in the sun for ten years he feels that he could not face the English winters, since he made that promise to himself when he was working when he spent many cold weekends off shore sailing in the English Channel.

He comments that it is sad to see so many old friends are no longer with us and that it always brings back memories of school days together and he is still in touch with John Sansom in Canada and Jim Otter (1945-51) in South Africa. Also he tells us that he is still fit and plays golf regularly and although no longer skiing he is still a keen sailor and just enjoyed delivering a 60 foot yacht from Emburiabrava, Spain to Vilamoura in Portugal just some 1,000 miles.

John Fallows (1938-47) wrote to us as follows:-

Dear Joan and Terry,

Congratulations on another excellent OWBA magazine. We are so fortunate to have you and a dedicated team working to produce this excellent OWBA magazine every year. Thank you all. I see in this year's issue there are several that get a mention. Say 'Hi' to Stan Cooke whom I haven't seen since 1945? I seem to remember that he, Norman Gibson and I were the bane of Sam Lane's life in the physics lessons and we were frequently required to sit apart to work. Froggy Ford also gets a mention and I recall the day he brought in a bag of bull's eyes from his father's butcher's shop for the class to dissect. I see that Paul Tennyson is still writing for the magazine from Harrogate. We were also in Harrogate in the 60s but didn't realise that he was there at the time. My wife Brenda, although not at the school, remembers many pupils (mainly boys I think, including Clive Johnson (1940-47) and Brian Bailey and has recently been in touch with Mary Petchell (1942-47), now living in Spain who has written a book about her life. This news came from John, after he had attempted to send it prior to this final e-mail and having no reply from us to his original mail he decided that the news was floating around in cyber space! However, he got it to us in the end.

I have a photo taken of the school on Speech Day in 1941 which features most of the first and second forms and, less clearly the rest of the school, together with an assortment of prefects. I have a feeling that you may have produced this photo in an earlier edition of the magazine but if I am wrong and you are interested I would willingly send you a copy. Many thanks for your dedication. I am already looking forward to your 2016 edition.

We briefly received a note from Chris and Margaret Hotchen who are living in Prestbury near Macclesfield but they didn't update us with any news.

Maurice Collins (1937-41) wrote saying he appreciated the last issue of the magazine and says it was interesting to catch so many echoes of his long ago schooldays. Maurice is living in Cambridgeshire.

The Rev. Canon John Hodgkinson (1949-47) wrote from his home in Levens Cumbria, to say that he and his wife Jean (née Taggart 19 -) still enjoy their one acre garden and keep in touch with Mary Sheppard (née Brown) who was a contemporary at school during the war years and she lives in a delectable farmhouse with her husband Bill at Burrough near Kirkby Lonsdale.

Bob Bagguley (1936-43) rang us up to see how we were doing and to inform us that he is now 91 and still gets around quite well. He was also enquiring to see if the photo he sent earlier was any good for reproduction and of course we told him it was.

Bill Buchanan (1935-42) rang us up and we had quite a chat, Bill doesn't get about very much at the moment so is having to stay put in his home in East Leake.

Bob Wolff (1954-59) keeps in touch regularly and sent us his news at the beginning of the year saying:-

Thanks yet again for your efforts in producing the OWB Mag for Summer 2015. Full of news as usual and a great way of connecting so many OWB's from around the globe. It would appear that you have again been burdened with the next Reunion and for sure Garn and I will be joining you at Ruddington as hopefully will brother John and a plus one!! We have enjoyed an active year to date. The Thai orphans came and went, Spring Harvest was terrific as usual as indeed was our holiday in the US. After 3 consecutive years at the Edinburgh Military Tattoo we will probably give it a miss next year and assuming Garn gains her British Citizenship and thereafter a British Passport we hope to be able to travel within Europe without the need for successive visas. A return to Thailand is certainly on the cards for April, 2016 which will include a visit to Garn's home village of Dong Ban Tai in the far north east on the border with Laos.

We have just purchased a Jack Russell as a pet and company for our Northern Inuit who is ageing well. We have enjoyed the pleasure of a family of Barn Owls in our owl box this spring and summer although they were somewhat more timid than the Little Owls which bred well last year.

I wish you well with ticket sales for the Reunion in the hopes that your continued efforts are well supported. For sure we will pop in for a cuppa when next in Edwalton.

Take care. Bob

This was followed shortly afterwards by the following news:

Great news from us in that Garn received a letter from the Home Office yesterday approving her Bob Bagguley (1936-43) wrote from his home in Shropshire and enclosed the following photograph of the OWB Rugby Team around 1948. He has marked himself with a X and says that the only other person he can remember of the team is Gordon Mackenzie, and this is because Gordon played Fly Half and Bob himself played Centre Three Quarter.

application for British Citizenship. We are having a private ceremony on Tuesday when she will be presented with her certificate having sworn an oath of allegiance to the Queen and made a pledge of loyalty to the UK etc. Needless to say we are thrilled, not least having over several years completed scores of visa applications and the like. It will especially make travel in Europe so much easier. Naturally we sent our hearty congratulations to Garn, she has worked so hard since coming to the UK.

Don Cross (1942-47) brother of the late Joy Cross, thanked us for sending him last year's issue and mentioned that the various comments by the contributors concerning the happenings at the school during WWII set about him thinking back to that period and in particular it reminded him of the time spent in the afternoon after lessons in the Physics Lab practicing aircraft recognition. These sessions were run by Mr Lane and with the use of the Epidiascope to train them up to Royal Observer Corps Standards.

In a misguided attempt to make up his own Epidiascope at home so that he could get more practice, his electrical knowledge was not up to standard and he blew the main fuse in his house in Ellesmere Road and it went with quite a bang and blackened the skirting board around the plug. Needless to say he was not the most popular boy in the house for a while.

He also recalls, in the quadrangle on the west side of the school there was a Gloster Gladiator biplane housed, presumably for the use by the ATC cadets. When lessons took Don into the adjoining classrooms which overlooked this aircraft he spent more time looking and dreaming about aeroplanes than anything somebody was trying to teach him. Anyway his dreams turned to reality when he left school, culminating in the late 1950s when he was deeply involved in the Bristol 198 supersonic airliner, which subsequently became Concorde. He mentions that they were also looking at the possibility of a Mach 3 Airliner which would really have been something. If his school days were not his happiest working on aeroplanes were certainly happy and he was probably one of the few people who in a period of 13 years worked on 1930s biplanes at Field Aircraft Services at Tollerton to working on supersonic airliners at Bristol Aircraft Ltd and all sorts of planes between. He says that what memories we have some are good and some not so good but all are interesting. Don wishes us continued success with the magazine and says he produces a similar annual effort for one of his other interests so he knows the amount of work that goes into producing such a magazine.

Ian Lace (1943-49) has remembered that he had more personal connections with the late John Treadgold (1943-49). He noticed that John had been on the governing body of St Mary's Hall Brighton the prestigious girls' school in Brighton. The daughter, Amanda Robins, of Ian's fiancé at that time. But sadly they never married attended that particular school then and indeed became its Head Girl. Ian's present lady friend who lives near Stonehenge remembers meeting John's wife Hazel as president of the Worldwide Mothers Union.

Jim Otter (1946-51) wrote to us from his home in South Africa as follows:-

Dear Joan,

I'm flattered that you missed my annual update and wondered if it is an indication that I am alive and kicking at 80. Well, I'm alive but the kicking seems to be slowing down a bit.

The sun still shines in South Africa – the government has not been able to transform that. It does its best though to transform (the in word here) the cricket and the rugby with a view to bringing them down to the level of the local soccer (which is totally transformed) – not many white faces in the team. However we get the UK football on the TV (2 recent games showed Nottingham Forest) and we get La Liga and the Bundesliga. I enjoy the football and all the sport. Our economy seems to be in a bad way and is getting worse. Our currency has really depreciated with 21 Rand to the pound now. Someone from the UK can now get a really good holiday deal here in South Africa, except that our brilliant government has transformed the immigration laws so that they put people off with all the red tape. However we have the sunshine and the people keep sending messages to the government that they are fed up so come the next election we might use some transformation by the people rather than the government.

I am still working with our estate agency but my son Christopher is now the main man. I do the administration. I also do professional assessing and moderating in the fields of estate agency and accountancy which I enjoy. My wife Betty has retired from the business but unfortunately she has had a couple of strokes so I spend a lot of my time caring for her. My other son Thomas lives in Germany and is an executive with SAP. He is an expert on cloud computing and is a Vice President of Success Factors Inc. in San Francisco, so he travels a lot between Germany and the USA and grandchildren all of whom seem to be quite talented. Thomas' wife Charlotte is a successful novelist and Thomas is a cycling and fitness freak (ironman). My youngest grandson Oliver is 11 and showing some talent at football. In Germany they receive professional coaching on tactics and strategy in addition to ball control. My granddaughter Rachel (13) here in South Africa is showing talent with the piano and my grandson Matthew (16) is winning sprint which pleases me a lot since that was my forte at WBGS. I enjoy reading The Old West Bridgfordian and I must say that you do a wonderful job in producing it. I like to see references to my contemporaries which are unfortunately getting fewer and fewer in the body of the magazine and more and more in the obituaries.

I am finding it difficult to write something of interest for the readers and when I re-read this I must say I find it rather boring. I hope that you find it more interesting than I do.

Yours very sincerely,
Jim Otter (1946-51)

A few weeks later we received a reply to our news to him saying:—

Pleased to hear from you. I hope your eye treatment is successful. I had cataracts in both eyes about 20 years ago. They botched one but the other is very good. I am sure yours will be fine as this technology has advanced.

You will notice a big improvement in your vision.

South Africa is doing well in the current cricket series in India, having won the T20 and the one day matches. Now for the 5 day tests. Unfortunately we lost to the All Blacks 20-18 in the rugby world cup semi-final.

The government has eased the immigration laws so that tourists from overseas will return (they passed laws and regulations that made things difficult). I hope that this will be successful as tourism and vacations in this beautiful country are a major source of economic wealth.

Education (which I have engaged in as a career concurrent with my business - I was a lecturer at the University of South Africa on the MBA programme) has come into the spotlight. Students at all the Universities engaged in a protest against a 10% increase in fees and their action closed down all the Universities last week and there were marches to the parliament buildings. There was some damage to property but no serious injuries, despite the police being out in full force. The government has given in and there will be no fee increases next year. Many students however are still protesting and want tertiary education to be free. On reflection I feel that this is unrealistic and possibly unethical, since primary education is not free and poor people cannot afford the basic school fees. There is (in my view) a case for making primary education free and compulsory. Tertiary education is a different matter. When I attended University I also worked to pay my way, as did my two sons. In my own case I worked in Hortons greenhouses at Keyworth growing tomatoes and cucumbers during vacations from the age of 13 whilst I was at West Bridgford Grammar School. South Africa which has huge unemployment has a poor work ethic. I believe that there is a relationship between this and the rampant corruption in the public sector. Unemployment is over 30% and increasing and having a university degree is no guarantee of a job. It is unfortunate that many young people who are not sufficiently educated to take on a university education believe they are entitled and capable. There is huge drop-out in the first year that is not entirely due to poverty.

I am now 80 but I must say that when I receive the Old West Bridgfordian the memories come flooding back and I am transported to being an apprehensive 11 year old again.

Sincerely,

James Otter

Jan Williams (née Douglas 1956-63) wrote thanking us for the last issue of the magazine and said it was a good read as always. At the same time she sent her cheque for the reunion and we were all looking forward to meeting up once again. At the time of writing she was off to plant her spring bulbs, so we hope they flowered successfully when this spring finally came.

On New Year's Eve we received a lovely surprise phone call from our life-long friend Ian Houghton (1942-47), from his home in Canada. We had a lengthy chat and caught up with our news from both sides of the great divide. This was followed by a letter from Ian a few weeks later saying:

Greetings Joan & Terry, and apologies for not getting back sooner to reply to your e-mail of some three weeks ago. I am always full of the best intentions re correspondence but prevarication rules and all of a sudden time has passed impolitely!! However, you had just left Terry in the QMC and I hope for your sake that is now history. I am of a similar age and getting steadily older – my pain index continues to rise despite my doctor's efforts – I just have to bite the bullet and force myself to move. Scooter needs his daily walk, as do I – we fearlessly tread where recently a mountain lion was passing through – I told you he appeared in the ravine just before Halloween, was there for a couple of days and was not spotted by people and their dogs, including me – positively amazing – subsequently discovered the remains of a couple of racoons he had been dining on. How is the cataract operation coming along – you thought it would be February – and are you into the eye drops routine yet. I had both eyes done 10 years ago and only had to use the drops for a couple of days before the procedure and none after, but Carole who had her first eye done in November was under the regime a month before each procedure and for two weeks thereafter, and she is in for her second eye op next week and then will I hope be able to see properly again. I had no trouble seeing after the first and after the second parted company with distant vision glasses but Carole has had difficulty adjusting one eye magic and the other still muddy – hope you are good from the start! My magic box tells me you have been getting considerable rain lately – affecting the on-coming spring I take it. We have had a mild winter, very little snow in the city and surrounds but the mountains have been making up for shortage of snow the past couple of years with large dumps to the delights of the skiers and snowboarders - I don't ski any more, the legs won't take it to my disgust – even cross country which was actually my preference – downhill I managed but not wonderfully, no ski bunnies hanging on my arms!!

Future plans, Joan – we are looking to early June to repeat the Amsterdam/Budapest river cruise with a preceding three or four days in Holland, two weeks river and Carole wants two weeks visiting family in Scotland – don't think I want to drive any more in the U.K. since even now we avoid driving at night here at home. If we do get to travel it will be public transport or relatives and I don't have many of those left nowadays!

Enough now, fond regards, from Ian, Carole & Scooter (the dog).

Dr Patricia (née Easom 1955-62) Berry wrote to inform us that she still continues to enjoy the summer "yellow" book and read everything that happens at the school. She is semi-retired but still doing some work which she enjoys. She is also busy helping out with her four grandchildren. Also Patricia is in touch with several of her years at school and has met up with Christine Wass and Elizabeth Purcell (née Robinson).

Chris Fox (1965-68) contacted us just before Xmas thanking members of the committee for all the work that we do. He also mentioned that he thoroughly enjoys the magazine and all its recollections saying that he reconnects with names from the 'good old days' particularly as he now lives away from the area.

Ann Price (née Vickerstaff 1949-55) wife of Roland (1935-40) informed us that things were reasonably OK at the time of writing and that the two of them thoroughly enjoy reading the magazine when it arrives.

Having noticed that it was Goose Fair time prompted John Rossell (1945-50) to get in touch although he commented that he was giving the fair a miss this year! He said the magazine is always looked forward to in the household but sadly finds that their years feature less and less in its production. He tells us that Beryl Huskinson (1946-50) is still teaching keep fit and says that the two of them both cycle and walk on a regular basis although as winter approaches they will probably become fair weather cyclists.

Hazel Hajdu (née Barrow 1940s) wrote from her home in Australia, and this was following a welcome phone call to your secretary when Hazel, paid a short visit to the UK whilst visiting Europe, was another member who wrote appreciating the regular issue saying it is a great pleasure to get it.

John Lowe (1945-50) is still living in West Bridgford.

Mary Stone (née Frettingham 1931-37) keeps in touch by phoning regularly to see what is happening in Nottingham and is always surprised to learn that many of the branches of banks have closed and become restaurants now.

Samantha Morton (1989-94) our OWB who has been twice nominated for an Oscar in the past was seen on the television last autumn in Laurie Lee's 'Cider with Rosie'. This new one-off adaptation of his coming of age story plays out in the Cotswolds during and after the first World War. This is a tale of the marks left by childhood, and it is a natural story and as it goes on slipping between events in the life of the younger and old Laurie as he learns more about his wonderful but tragic mother played by Samantha, finds out what happened to his dad and has teasing encounters with Rosie and her unnatural wisdoms.

Mary is keeping quite well and apologises that she lives so far away she is unable to get to the meetings and reunions nowadays.

John Hall (1941-45) wrote from his home in Harrow, saying it was good to receive the last issue with so much news of members but also sadly of the deaths of people he remembered. He joined West Bridgford Grammar School in 1941 and was there during the war years and he clearly remembers the names and faces of his fellow classmates and teachers but he isn't sure where he put his car keys last night! Such is age he comments but hopes his good health will continue in the future, and he concludes with sincere thanks to all who contribute to keeping the Association going.

Beryl Bradbury (née Nightingale 1946-53) attended the AGM and was pleased to see all who attended.

Colin Wood (1963-66) is still living in Nether Poppleton in Yorkshire.

Ted Mills (1941-46) wrote briefly from his home in Gedling.

John Barker (1949-54) is still living in the Beeston area.

Jan Williams (née Douglas 1956-63) having been disappointed that the reunion was cancelled decided to meet up with former school peers for lunch on that particular Saturday. She drove from her home in Knaresborough to meet up with Marian Henstock (née Barratt) who lives in Cropwell Butler and Sue (née Worrall) who drove from Solihull. They had a light lunch at Edin's in Broad Street and a good old catch up with their news and photos and paid tribute to their good quality teachers who got them through their exams and have arranged to meet again on September 17th at mid-day with Sally Beers who now lives in Melton. Should anyone from their era wish to join them please let your Editor know and we will pass on the information.

Alf Cooper (1935-40) wrote from his home in Bradmore with the sad news that his wife Rita had died. Also he mentioned that Mary Roe (1938-43) had not been well, and we ourselves hadn't had this news brought to our attention so we trust Mary is making progress towards better health.

John Wills (1956-63) wrote from his home in London and was looking forward to the reunion as were several others who had purchased their tickets!

Alison Rushforth is living at Radcliffe on Trent not too far from our former caretaker at school for many years, Bill Smith.

Susan Jones (née Worrall 1956-63) informed us that she was hoping to meet up with old friends on the 2nd April.

Janet Teather wrote to us briefly from her home in Sheringham.

We received a beautiful picture of Mont Blanc and the view being the one Noel Howell (1956-63) can see from his home in Geneva, and he was hoping to meet up with us all at the reunion too.

We had a lovely surprise when Charles Dobbs (1934-39) rang us up one day. He is now 93 years old but still manages to take a walk with aids every day with his wife. He updated us with what members of his family including the grandchildren are up to. He did mention that he now no longer drives but that he would like to get to another reunion and mentioned that his wife would do the driving. He is keeping in quite good health although doesn't have a great appetite these days.

Ruth (née White 1939-45) O'Krafo-Smart, wrote to say she didn't know how many years she had been reading the OWB magazine, and didn't often see any names from her years at school let alone former members of her class. hence she wrote the following to see if anyone remembered her and also her sister, Margaret (née White 1937-43) Stanley but at the same time she gave a hearty thankyou to those that produce the magazine over so many years:-

The White Sisters.

Margaret attended the Musters Road School for one year and moved to the new building in 1938. In 1943 she went on to Nottingham University to study French and German. As she wanted to be a teacher she went down to London to qualify for her B.Ed. On her return to Nottingham she was appointed to teach French at the Pierrepont School and the Bentinck School. In 1950 she married a local farmer and embarked on a farming life and so resigned from teaching and became a farm help!!

I started the school in 1939 at the beginning of the Second World War. Life for us had suddenly changed. We lived at Keyworth and we had two evacuees billeted on us. Margaret and I had to have special bus passes to travel on certain buses, so it was too bad if you missed it. Those war years affected our schooling, not academically but socially. I left school and went to Saffron Walden Teachers Training College for two years – an all Women's Quaker College. When I returned to Nottingham I was appointed to the Jesse Boot Infant School and I can recall having 52 children in my class (and not a TA in sight) I was there for 10 years until I moved to the Bentinck School as Deputy Head in February 1962. I met my husband, an overseas student from Sierre Leone who was at Saxondale Hospital; as a student in June 1953 and we married and have three children. When the youngest was 3 I returned to teaching at the Special School in Cotgrave for 10 years. Since we married we have been researching the life of my husband's great, great, great Grandfather who was captured in Nigeria and was being taken on a slave ship to Cuba when it was intercepted by a British Frigate and the slaves were resettled in Freetown in 1814. His g g g grandfather was very keen that his children knew where he came from and was always telling them stories and describing the river close by etc. After about 20 years of research at Birmingham University Library and the Archives in London, we found where he was born. Victor then wrote a book and through its sales , contact was made with a Professor in Nigeria and we found the Nigerian end of the story. In consequence Victor was invited to Nigeria and trod on the very soil his g g g grandfather had trod. There was a Service of Thanksgiving followed by a huge Festival of Celebration for his return, a twenty one gun salute and he was anointed as a Prince as he was a descendant of a King when Nigeria was divided into many Kingdoms so I am a Princess!!

Margaret and I used to serve the staff dinner table which was quite interesting. Over the years I have been having the magazine I have seen very few names of those in my year. The only one I have kept in contact with each Christmas is Betty Everington (Savage). I was interested to read about Charles West in the issue a couple of years ago. We used to talk a lot as we waited for our bus at the end of Carnarvon Road. A very talented and intelligent student. Margaret's best friends were Olga Wright (née Tomlinson) and Edith Watson. I see Betty Watkinson's name in the Notes & News and I am sure my sister was in the same class.

Ruth Okrafo-Smart (née White)

Lucy Worsley (1983-88) is still appearing on various TV programmes about The Royal Family and its predecessors. She was certainly on the front row at Windsor Castle when the Queen celebrated her 90th birthday in April.

The following note came from Jan Williams (née Douglas 1956-63) soon after what should have been our reunion:

Hi Joan and Terry

I hope you are both keeping well. Like you and others, I was very disappointed that the dinner planned for 2nd April had to be cancelled. However, three of us from the '56 intake managed a meet-up for a delicious light lunch the same day at Edin's on Broad Street.

Sue Jones (née Susan Worrall) travelled from Solihull, I travelled from Knaresborough in North Yorkshire and Marian Henstock (née Barratt) all the way from Cropwell Butler. Armed with old school photos - and some new - we spent several happy hours reminiscing our schooldays - and the trials and tribulations no doubt of our teachers.

Indeed we have already arranged another meeting - this time with Sally Beers (née Tibbs), now from Melton Mowbray, - on 17th September. If anyone who was of the '56-'63 intake or thereabouts would like to join us, they are very welcome!

Jan Williams (née Janet Douglas 1956-63)

Just as we were going to print, Paul Tennyson (1940-47) wrote with his sub and some interesting news. He was saying that he and Mary don't travel far these days outside of Yorkshire where they live, and that they were attending the funeral of one of his best friends in Nottingham the following day. Earlier they travelled to Tollerton to meet up with Ann, the widow of the late Peter Dodsworth (1940-48) when the family had come over to stay in Tollerton from Canada.

Paul sends regards to anyone who remembers him at school.

Our subs secretary received a letter from one of her contemporaries – Sheila (née Shepherd 1939-45) who mentioned that most of her time seems to be spent visiting Drs and hospitals. She herself is awaiting the results of a scan which may involve the removal of her gall bladder

Alan Jepson (1961-68) wrote from his home in Orpington to say that he is now fully retired and spends time playing golf, tennis and visiting their daughter in Australia.

Elizabeth Purcell (née Robinson 1955-53) informs us that her husband died some 5 years ago and so she has had to get used to living on her own, but she has some great friends and neighbours around her. She is also close to her sister-in-law and she has been on holiday at Christmas with her in her home in California and she has a great family and they've spent several holidays together in New Zealand, Portugal Norway and cruising on the Rhine. Liz is going out to California later this year too. Liz mentions it is great to read of the doings of the OWBs.

Grace (née Mackenzie 1932-38) Goodchild will be 95 during July 2016 and still enjoys reading the magazine.

Audrey Pearson (formerly Palmer) is still living in Lincolnshire and enjoys reading about some of her age group although she finds they are reduced in number now.

Ailish D'Arcy informed us that on November 11th last year she went along with two of her former History teaching colleagues to Wilford Hill Cemetery and they placed candles and flowers on the graves of former OWB's – John Turner (1935-40) son of the Senior Master Mr Turner, who is one of a few who are buried at Wilford Hill, who lost their lives fairly soon after they joined up.

We extend best wishes to Cliff Gillott (1938-40) who is recovering in a nursing home from a fall at the moment and to our Editor Terry Rushton (1935-40) who is about to have a pacemaker fitted in the City Hospital.

Just before going to print we received the following letter from our friend Charles Dobbs (1934-39):

We offer our sincere congratulations to Charles - Well Done!

Obituary

Michael Burrows (1941-46)

Michael Burrows the film historian died on November 10th 2015 aged 86. He became a renowned authority on the golden age of Hollywood after a successful career in business. A lifelong cineaste he devoted his later years to writing and lecturing on the cinema greats across the country inspiring a new generation of film lovers with the same enthusiasm as he had.

Michael was born in Beeston, Nottingham on July 15th 1929 and was the son of the chemist there. He was educated at West Bridgford Grammar School and on leaving school he started his career at Westminster Bank, Thurland Street, Nottingham and then as he reached twenty he joined the Electricity Board. In 1953, Michael became the youngest Fellow of The Institute of Chartered Secretaries and Administrators. His career took him across the country but he finally settled with his wife Daphne and family in Cornwall in 1975 where he lectured in business law at Plymouth Devonshire College of Further Education. His true passion however, was Hollywood in its 20th century heyday. As a young lad growing up in Beeston he took in all the latest releases at his local cinema, the Palace often winning tickets as prizes in film quizzes.

Later in life he created the Publishing Company Prime Style Limited and wrote numerous books on film actors, writers and directors among them John Ford, Mario Lanza, John Steinbeck and actresses Patricia Neale and Margaret Sullivan. He also created the Mario Lanza Foundation which supported young singers.

Michael lectured to film fans in cinemas from Penzance to Inverness treating them to the stories behind the Hollywood glamour, covering the lives of luminaries such as John Wayne, Charles Laughton and John Ford with all proceeds going to the Royal Theatrical Fund and the Cinema and Television Benevolent Fund.

Michael corresponded with many of the subjects of his books and in Gene Kelly Versatility Personified, the celebrated dancer, actor and director revealed that although “Singing in the Rain” was his favourite film he held sentimental thoughts for several of his other pictures. saying he admired ‘ Inherit the Wind’ very much indeed.

Latterly Michael contributed regularly to the magazine ‘Movie Memories’ in which he explained the lives of Alexander Knox, Edward G Robinson, Anne Baxter and Robert Newton. He was also an expert on the work of Frederic March who won Oscars for his films.

Michael was a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts and is survived by his wife of 62 years, Daphne, a son and 2 daughters.

Joan Sawyer (née Priddey) 1934-1939

Joan was born in Llandudno in North Wales on 13th July 1923, although she spent her early childhood in Leeds. Her mother died when she was just eleven, which left her helping to bring up her three brothers, Derek, Bill and Brian. The family moved to Nottingham where Joan attended West Bridgford Grammar School from 1934-1939. She valued the many friends she made at school and through her active membership of the tennis club. She was an avid letter writer and kept in touch with several throughout her life. On leaving school she spent a short while at a Nottingham lace firm and then joined the WRENS as soon as she was old enough. Her talent with both a typewriter and piano keyboard meant that she was selected to train as a Wireless Telegrapher sending and receiving coded messages from shore to ship.

Joan met her beloved husband Tom on holiday in Jersey and married in 1949. They lived in Surrey until work took them to Chicago for a year. So began a love of travel which lasted most of their lives.

On returning to England Joan and Tom settled in Ickenham and had two daughters in 1955 and 1958.

Family and friends were the essence of Joan’s life and she was utterly content and thankful for her happy memories of her school days.

Ann Sawyer (daughter)

Gordon Ridley Solway (1947-55)

A service of thanksgiving for Gordon’s life was held at St. Mary’s Church, Nottingham on 19th May 2016.

It was apparent in his early years at school that he had abundant academic talent. Later on, he showed a bias towards maths, physics and chemistry, subjects which he studied in the sixth form with discipline and resolve. He was appointed head boy in his final year and, after completing two years National Service, went to Christ's College Cambridge where he achieved a double first in Natural Sciences and Economics. Gordon's non-academic life at school centred mainly around music: he took up the trombone and joined both the school orchestra and the Nottingham Junior Harmonic Orchestra. Also, he had a resonant bass voice and took part in choral works, particularly madrigals.

On completion of his time at university in 1961 he took a job at Boots where, after being employed in various roles, he was appointed to the Group Board in 1979. Later came a period in the USA before returning to the UK as managing director of Boots Pharmaceuticals. Retirement came in 1995 after 34 very successful years with the firm, although he then worked for BASF (who acquired Boots Pharmaceuticals) for a year to oversee the integration of the division.

With his Danish wife, Kirsten, he had two sons, Tony and Peter, who delivered a joint eulogy at the thanksgiving service. An obituary was published in the Nottingham Post on 11th May.

The Rev Canon Robin Edward Hobbs Johnson 1950 – 1958

Robin was born on 7 July 1939 in Nottingham. He attended West Bridgford Grammar School and was Head Boy in his final year. He went on to Fitzwilliam College Cambridge to read Theology where he was awarded the Hirst-Player Exhibition in 1959 and graduated in 1961. He moved to Ripon Hall Oxford to prepare for ordination, during which time he also read for Part III of the Theological Tripos.

After serving a curacy in Tyldesley, Manchester, he moved to become a Lecturer in Divinity at Loughborough College of Education. He returned to Manchester Diocese in 1971 serving first as Vicar in Rochdale, next as Bishop's Chaplain and Director of Ordinands and finally 10 years in Bolton. He became an Honorary Canon of Manchester Cathedral in 1986. In 1991 he moved to Dorchester for 9 years.

Subsequently he was Anglican Chaplain in Torrevieja, Spain for three years. Having reached the age of retirement, Robin became resident Chaplain at St Oswald's Hospital Almshouses, Worcester.

Having made the decision to retire, Robin returned to Nottingham. He died on 11 March 2015.

Sister, Gloria (née Johnson) Hayes

Mary (née Frettingham 1931-37) Stone

Mary was in good health and 'young' though aged 95 until shingles started whilst with me, her sister, Maureen for Xmas. When young she had attended Miss Bristow's commercial Secretarial Course and then entered Barclay's Bank in Nottingham until she married Ron Stone who was also in the bank. She shared a happy rural life in Shropshire until moving to Shaldon in 1964, then to Sidmouth in 1989 after Ron's demise. We shared every Sunday at my home 'Briarleigh', picnics, cinema, local Rep, walks on cliffs, beach, Byes etc and visits to Bournemouth. My friends – school, college = societies, some local - enjoyed Mary's company.

I was at Nottingham Girls High School 1945-51. Mary, good companion, friend, pal will be greatly missed by me, as is sister Marguerite Warwick for whom I wrote in October 2014 and thank you for including that Obituary in the Summer 2015 magazine. Mary's cremation was on Wednesday 15th June at Exeter and her ashes will join Ron's and my husband's in the cemetery overlooking the sea and our 'Seven Hills'.
Maureen Mitchell (sister)

Ron Bolton (1934-39)

Ron attended what was then the West Bridgford Secondary School from 1934-39, when aged 16, he left to join the Civil Service. He spent his entire career working for the Ministry of Labour (which later became the Department for Employment). Ron was awarded the MBE in the New Years Honours List in 1981 for his public service.

He lived in West Bridgford for the whole of his adult life, so he truly was an Old Westbridgfordian! Incidentally, I have come across the Summer 2010 edition of your

He was a keen cricketer and for many years played for the Old Westbridfordians Cricket Club, where, from memory, his team mates included Ken and John Robinson, Malcolm Clarke, John Rowe and Ken Ackerman, among others.

Ron's real passion however was table tennis. He was a stalwart of the Nottingham and District Table Association, whom he represented at senior and veterans level, as well as being a Committee member for over 50 years. He continued to play well into retirement and even competed at the World Veterans Championships on 4 occasions, winning a bronze medal in the over 60s singles in Helsinki in 1984 and a silver medal in the over 70s singles at Dublin in 1992. He has sometimes been referred to as "Nottingham Mr Table Tennis", which I think is a fitting tribute to his fine contribution to the sport.

As for myself, I also attended West Bridgford Grammar School from 1964-1971, during which time it became a Comprehensive School. I then attended Reading University and subsequently pursued a career in town planning, before retiring in 2012. Since 1989 I have lived in Towcester, Northamptonshire.

Geoff Bolton (son)
